INDEX TO VOLUME CLXIX.

AUTHORS.

Adams, J. F. A. Address of the chairman of the section of tuberculosis, 521.
Adler, Herman, M., et al. Notes of the first annual conference on the medical and social work of the Psychopathic Hospital, Boston, Mass., 418. Report of clinical demonstration of alcoholic mental diseases, 932.
Anderson, V. V., et al. Notes of the first annual conference on the medical and social work of the Psychopathic Hospital, 418.
Austin, A. E. Review of biological chemistry for 1912, 125.

Bagg, E. P., et al. Observations on summer diarrheas in children. 1911, 741.
Baker, H. H. Notes on the first annual conference on the medical and social work of the Psychopathic Hospital, Boston, Mass., 418.
Barney, J. D. A case illustrating the efficiency of the high frequency current in the treatment of tumors of the bladder, 19.
Barron, E. W., and Davis, M. M., Jr. A method of promoting the efficiency of an out-patient clinic, 820.
Binney, Horace, and Lund, F. B. Report of eighteen cases of separation of the lower femoral epiphysis at the Boston City Hospital, 49.
Blake, J. G., et al. Notes of the first annual conference on the medical and social work of the Psychopathic Hospital, Boston, Mass., 418.
Bloodgood, J. C. Cancer control, 792.
Blumer, G. The need of reorganization in the methods and teaching of therapeutics, 261.
Bowen, John T. Report on dermatology, 239.
Boyd, W. A. Hereditary chorea with report of a case, 239.
Bucholz, H., et al. Third report in orthopedic surgery, 279.
Buckley, George A. A case of anthrax, 386.
Burnham, A. C. Prognosis and treatment of compound fracture of the base of the skull, 270.
Burns, N. B., and MacCorison, C. C. The role of "family clusters" in the prevalence of pulmonary tuberculosis, 224.

Canavan, M. M. Third note on the persistence of agglutinins for bacillus dysenteriae in the Danvers Hospital cases, 643.
Channing, W., et al. Notes of the first annual conference on the medical and social work of the Psychopathic Hospital, Boston, Mass., 418. The better training of nurses in insane hospitals, 719. Introductory remarks on mental diseases due to alcohol, 929.
Charnley, C. Some observations on the conditions and treatment of stuttering, 824. Experiences in the treatment of vocal disorders, 833.
Christian, H. A. General summary of the significance of methods of testing renal function, 468.
Codman, E. A. Our little balloons. Some observations on gas and ptosis, 540. Observations on a series of ninety-eight consecutive operations for chronic appendicitis, 495.
Conlon, F. A. Five generations of blue sclerotics and associated osteoporosis, 16.
Coolidge, A., and Garland, F. E. The removal of adenoids and tonsils in children, 306.
Coues, W. P. Separation of the epiphysis of the first metacarpal bone. Report of two additional cases, 21. Fracture of the carpal scaphoid in childhood and adolescence, 88.
Councilman, W. T. Dr. Fitz's contribution to pathology, 895.
Crawford A. C. Conclusions from an experiment in teaching pharmacology, 274.

Danforth, M. S., et al. Third report in orthopedic surgery, 279.
Davis, M. M., Jr., and Barron, E. W. A method of promoting the efficiency of an out-patient clinic, 820.
Day, A. A., et al. Observations on summer diarrheas in children. 1911, 741. Observations on summer diarrheas in children. 1912. 753.
Delano, S. The terminology of medicine in relation to its original sources, 800.
De Normandie, R. L., and Swift, J. B. Jr. Report on obstetrics, 428.
Denis, W., and Folin, O. Nitrogenous waste products in the blood in nephritis, 467.
Dodd, W. J., et al. Experimental scorbutus and the Roentgen-ray diagnosis of scorbutus, 232.

Eliot, Charles W. Dr. Fitz's service to medical education, 901.
Emerson, F. P. Atrophic rhinitis with ozena. Its etiology and surgical treatment, 451.
Eversole, G. E., et al. Notes of the first annual conference on the medical and social work of the Psychopathic Hospital, Boston, Mass., 418. Consensual amyosis to blue light as shown in certain alcoholic cases, 933.

Fallon, M. F. An anatomical and surgical study of pericecal membranes, 600.
Fish, J. E., and Lovett, R. W. The Outdoor treatment of surgical tuberculosis, 145.
Floyd, C. Artificial pneumothorax in the treatment of chronic infection of the pleura and the lungs, 713.
Fitz, R. Tests for renal function based upon the selective excretory activities of the kidney, 384.
FitzSimmons, H. J. A case of orthostatic albuminuria treated by exercise, 722.
Folin, O., and Denis, W. Nitrogenous waste products in the blood in nephritis, 467.

Gage, H. Some abuses in surgical practice, 1.
Garland, F. E., and Coolidge, A. The removal of adenoids and tonsils in children, 306.
George, A. W., and White, F. W. The x-ray method in diagnosis of gastric and duodenal ulcer, 157.
George, A. W., and Gerber, I. The value of the Roentgen method in the study of chronic appendicitis and inflammatory conditions, both congenital and acquired, about the cecum and terminal ileum, 534.
Gerber, I., and George, A. W. The value of the Roentgen method in the study of chronic appendicitis and inflammatory conditions, both congenital and acquired, about the cecum and terminal ileum, 534.
Gibbon, John H. Errors of diagnosis in gall-bladder disease from a surgical point of view, 538.
Gilbert, L. W. A study of 179 cases of endocarditis in children at the Massachusetts General Hospital; with special reference to the treatment of acute endocarditis, 85.
Goldsbury, P. W. The farmer and the hygienist, 640.
Good, F. L. Cesarean section; its indication. with report of twenty cases, 345.
Goodale, J. L. Indications for the relative values of tonsillotomy and tonsillectomy, 485.
Graves, W. P. Relationship between gynecological and neurological diseases, 557.
Gregg, D., et al. Notes of the First annual conference on the medical and social work of the Psychopathic Hospital, Boston, Mass., 418.

Hall, H. J. Orthopedics and the sanatorium, 678.
Harris, H. E. The end results of operative treatment in 33 cases of spastic paralysis, 82.
Hawes, J. B., 2d. Need of co-operation between local and state forces in tuberculosis work 527.
Hawes, J. B., 2d, and O'Neil, R. F. Remarks on the rational treatment of genito-urinary tuberculosis, 492.
Holman, D. M. The workmen's compensation act as viewed by a member of the industrial accident board, 413.
Hunt, R. B. Preparation of common infant foods, 758.
Huntington, J. L. Relation of the hospital to the hygiene of pregnancy, 763.

Jackson, R. W. Sphincteric atrophy: Causes, consequences and treatment, 221.
Jarrett, M. C., et al. Notes of the first annual conference on the medical and social work of the Psychopathic Hospital, Boston, Mass., 418. Notes on aftercare and moral suasion work with alcoholics, 936.
Johnston, J. C. The Workmen's Compensation Act from the legal standpoint, 409.
Jones, D. F. Carcinoma of the rectum, 707.
Jones, L. A. The importance of education in the tuberculosis campaign, 521.
Joslin, E. P. The treatment of diabetes mellitus, 348.

Keen, W. W. Dr. Fitz's services to surgery, 893.
Kendall, A. I. Saprophytism, parasitism and pathogenism, 749. Observations on the etiology of severe summer diarrheas of bacterial causation, 754.
Kendall, A. I., et al. Observations on summer diarrheas in children. 1911, 741. Observations on summer diarrheas in children, 1912, 753.
Keyes, F. A. Compulsory dentistry, 20.
Kimpton, A. R. Transfusion by means of glass cylinders, 783.
Kramer, S. P. On the treatment of delirium tremens by the subdural injection of sodium bromide, 646.

Lapham, M. E. The surgical treatment of pulmonary tuberculosis, 676.
Lawrence, C. H., and Shattuck, G. C. Diagnosis of typhoid fever on admission to a hospital, 228.
Lee, R. I., and Steele, A. E. A case of infection with nocardia, 502.
Locke, E. A. The nutrition of anemic and tuberculous children, 701.
Lothrop, O. A. A new antrum knife, 471. Furunculosis of the external auditory canal. The use of alcohol as a valuable aid in treatment, 645.
Lovett, R. W. The treatment of scoliosis, 629.
Lovett, R. W., and Fish, J. E. The outdoor treatment of surgical tuberculosis, 145.
Lucas, W. P. Report of voice clinic, September, 1912, to June, 1913, out-patient department of the Psychopathic Hospital, 822. The Wassermann reaction in its application to medicine, 116. Note on some problems of the adolescent as seen in the Psychopathic Hospital, out-patient department, Boston, Mass., 782.
Lucas, W. P., et al. Contributions to the neurology of the child. III. Further observations upon nervous and mental sequelae of encephalitis in children, 341. Notes of the first annual conference on the medical and social work of the Psychopathic Hospital, Boston, Mass., 418.
Lund, F. B. The surgeon and the ptosis problem, 181.
Lund, F. B., and Binney, H. Report of eighteen cases of separation of the lower femoral epiphysis at the Boston City Hospital, 49.

MacCorison, C. C., and Burns, N. B. The role of "family clusters" in the prevalence of pulmonary tuberculosis, 224.
MacDonald, J. B. Notes on pellagra in Massachusetts. With report of two cases in Danvers State Hospital, 567.
Mallory, F. B. The pathological lesion of whooping cough, 378. The classification of nephritis from the pathological point of view, 460. The pathological lesion of whooping cough, 575.
Marshall, H. W. Some relationship between orthopedic surgery and internal medicine, 46. Description of an abdominal lumbo-ilio-sacral support and its uses, advantages and limitations, 275. Some peculiarities of medical progress with illustrations from studies of articular conditions, 593.
Mead, K. C. Vichy, Royat, Aix-les-Bains. Which? 267.
Medalia, L. S. The use of bacterial vaccines in acute septic conditions of the oral cavity met with by the dentist, 786.
Merrick, R. M. The workmen's compensation act as it affects the physician, 415.
Miller, R. H. Progress in surgery of the thorax, 197.
Mixter, C. G. Congenital hepertrophic stenosis of the pylorus. With x-ray plates, 309.
Murray, Michael J. Work of Massachusetts Legislative Commission on drunkenness, 930.
Myerson, A. Hysteria with fever and ankle clonus, 194. Note on adductor response to homolateral and contralateral stimulation, 380.
Myerson, A., et al. Notes of the first annual conference on the medical and social work of the Psychopathic Hospital, Boston, Mass., 418.

Newburgh, L. H. The treatment of cardiac edema with alkali and salt, 40.
Noyes, M. L. Report of a few cases where sutures instead of packing have been used after submucous resection of the nasal septum, 542.

O'Neil, R. F., and Hawes, J. B., 2d. Remarks on the rational treatment of genito-urinary tuberculosis, 492.
Osgood, R. B. The end results of excision of the knee for tuberculosis with and without the use of bone plates, 123.
Osgood, R. B., et al. Third report in orthopedic surgery, 279.
Overlander, C. L. The typhoid carrier problem, 37.

Paine, A. K. The obstetrical problem of the poor, 121. Some aspects of labor mechanism at the pelvic brim, 154.
Painter, C. F. The evolution of mental healing, 605.
Palmer, W. W. The significance of urinary acidity in nephritis, 464.
Paul, W. E. Excessive polyuria of arterio-sclerosis, 57.
Penhallow, D. P. An unusual case of fracture of the patella (treated by immobilization), 90.
Peirce, B. H. The tuberculosis problem from the point of view of local boards of health, 524.
Peterson, H. O., et al. Experimental scorbutus and the Roentgen-ray diagnosis of scorbutus, 232.
Piersol, G. M. Addison's disease: Clinical and pathological observations, 76.
Post, A. The clinical value of the Wassermann reaction, 777.
Powers, H The role of gastric and intestinal stasis in some cases of epilepsy, 189.
Prenn, J. Modified adenoid forceps, 160.
Putnam, J. J. Certain features of the work of the late J. Hughlings Jackson of London, 73.

Ragle, B. H. Notes of the first annual conference on the medical and social work of the Psychopathic Hospital, Boston, Mass., 418.
Richards, G. L. Report of a case of phlegmon starting as a peritonsillar abscess and extending downward, as far as the second ring of the trachea, 278.
Robey, Wm. H., Jr. The nervous irritability of chronic renal disease, 817.
Roeder, C. A. Report of three cases of acute angulation of the terminal ileum causing intestinal obstruction, following operation for and drainage of acute suppurative appendicitis, 313.
Rosenau, M. J. The mode of transmission of poliomyelitis, 337. Progress and problems in preventive medicine, 665.

Salmon, T. W. Immigration and the prevention of insanity, 297.
Schlesinger, E. G. Intestinal stasis, 14.
Scudder, C. L. Certain observations upon two hundred cases of gastric disease, 635.
Seymour, M. The effect of nitrogenous waste products in the blood in chronic interstitial nephritis, 795.
Shattuck, G. C., and Lawrence, C. H. Diagnosis of typhoid fever on admission to a hospital, 228.
Shattuck, G. C., and Whittemore, W. S. Gonococcus vaccines and glycerine extracts of the gonococcus in the diagnosis of gonorrheal infections, 373.
Skillern, P. C. On the relief of earache and induction of operative anesthesia by infiltration of the auriculotemporal and tympanic (Jacobson's) nerves, 503.
Smith, W. M. Size of Hospitals for the insane and feeble-minded, 459.
Smith, R. M. Two types of infectious diarrheas in infants, 756.
Southard, E. E. Contributions from the Psychopathic Hospital, Boston, Massachusetts: Introductory note, 109. Psychopathology and neuropatnology: The psychopathic hospital as research and teaching center, 151. Second note on the geographical distribution of mental disease in Massachusetts, 1901-1910; The insanity rates of smaller cities, 302. Notes of the first annual conference on the medical and social work of the Psychopathic Hospital, Boston Mass., 418. Medical contributions of the State Board of Insanity of Massachusetts: Introductory note, 537. On institutional requirements for acute alcoholic mental disease in the metropolitan district of Massachusetts, 937.
Southard, E. E., and Lucas, W. P. Contributions to the neurology of the child. III. Further observations upon nervous and mental sequelae of encephalitis in children, 341.
Soutter, R., et al. Third report in orthopedic surgery, 279.
Spaulding, E. R. The study of the causes of juvenile delinquency, 7.
Stearns, A. W., et al. Notes of the first annual conference on the medical and social work of the Psychopathic Hospital, Boston, Mass., 418. Alcoholic amentia, 934. Notes on after-care and moral suasion work with alcoholics, 936.
Steele, A. E., and Lee, R. I. A case of infection with nocardia, 502.
Steiner, W. R. Digitalis: Its action and its uses, 828.
Steinharter, E. C. A preliminary note on the experimental production of gastric ulcers by the intravenous injection of clumped colon bacilli, 81.
Stockton, C. B. Condition of the upper region of the abdomen in relation to disease of the gall-bladder, 862.
Strong, S. L. A symposium on the reportability and control of venereal diseases, 901.
Swift, J. B., and De Normandie, R. L. Report on obstetrics, 428.

Talbot, F. B., et al. Experimental scorbutus and the Roentgen-ray diagnosis of scorbutus, 232.
Talbot, F. B. The wetnurse problem, 760.
Thayer, W. S. Dr. Fitz as a teacher, 897.
Titus, R. S. Fibroma of the ovary weighing thirty-five pounds. Operation. Recovery, 381.
Toby, G. L., Jr. Acute and chronic suppuration of the middle ear, 871.
Truesdale, P. E. Cancer of the stomach, 44.

Walcott, Henry P. Dr. Fitz's association with the Massachusetts General Hospital, 899.
Washburn, F. A. Needs of the future in hospital administration, 449.
White, F. W., and George, A. W. The x-ray method in diagnosis of gastric and duodenal ulcer, 157.
Whittemore, W. S., and Shattuck, G. C. Gonococcus vaccines and glycerine extracts of the gonococcus in the diagnosis of gonorrheal infections, 373.
Whittemore, W. Surgery of the billiary passages during a period of ten years from January 1, 1901, to January 1, 1911, at the Massachusetts General Hospital, 571.
Wilson, C. Cooked green vegetables in the treatment of acute and chronic diarrheas, 301.
Wright, J. H. The complement fixation test in diagnosis, 353.

Yerkes, R. M. Comparative psychology in relation to medicine, 779.
Young, E. L. Clinical functional tests. Methods, 466.
Young, J. K. Spinal abscesses, 457.

SUBJECTS.

Abdominal-lumbo-ilio-sacral support, description of, H. W. Marshall,, M.D., 275.
Abscesses, spinal, James K. Young, M.D., 457.
Abuses, some, in surgical practice, Homer Gage, M.D., 1.
Acute Angulation of the terminal ileum causing intestinal obstruction, following operation for and drainage of acute suppurative appendicitis, report of three cases, C. A. Roeder, M.D., 313.
Acute Endocarditis. A study of 179 cases of, at the Massachusetts General Hospital with special reference to the treatment of, Louis W. Gilbert, M.D., 85.
Adenoid Forceps. New instrument, Joseph Prenn, M.D., 160.
Adenoids and Tonsils, removal of, in children, A. Coolidge, M.D., and F. E. Garland, M.D., 306.
Adolescent, note on some problems of the, as seen in the Psychopathic Hospital, out-patient department, Boston, Massachusetts, William Palmer Lucas, M.D., 782.
Adductor Response to homolateral and contralateral stimulation, note on, A. Myerson, M.D., 380.
Addison's Disease: Clinical and pathological observations, George Morris Piersol, M.D., 76.
Addresses. Some abuses in surgical practice, Homer Gage, M.D., 1; certain features of the work of the late J. Hughlings Jackson of London, James J. Putnam, M.D., 73; needs of the future in hospital administration, Frederic A. Washburn, M.D., 449; progress and problems in preventive medicine, M. J. Rosenau, M.D., 665; the need of reorganization in the methods and teaching of therapeutics, George Blumer, M.D., 261.
Agglutinins, persistence of, third note on, for bacillus dysenteriae in the Danvers Hospital cases, M. M. Canavan, M.D., 643.
Albuminuria, orthostatic, a case of, treated by exercise, H. J. FitzSimmons, M.D., 722.
Alcohol a valuable aid in treatment of furunculosis of the external auditory canal, Oliver A. Lothrop, 645.
Ankle Clonus, hysteria with fever, A. Myerson, M.D., 194.
Anthrax, a case of, George A. Buckley, M.D., 386.
Antrum Knife.—A new instrument, Oliver A. Lothrop, M.D., 471.
Appendicitis, Acute Suppurative, report of three cases of acute angulation of the terminal ileum causing intestinal obstruction, following operation for and drainage of, C. A. Roeder, M.D., 313.
Appendicitis, Chronic, the value of the Roentgen method in the study of, and inflammatory conditions, both congenital and acquired, about the cecum and terminal ileum, Arial W. George, M.D., and Isaac Gerber, M.D., 534; observations on a series of ninety-eight consecutive operations for, E. A. Codman, M.D., 495.
Arterio-Sclerosis, excessive polyuria of, W. E. Paul, M.D., 57.
Articular Conditions, some peculiarities of medical progress with illustrations from studies of, H. W. Marshall, M.D., 593.
Artificial Pneumothorax in the treatment of chronic infection of the pleura and the lungs, Cleaveland Floyd, M.D., 713.
Atrophic Rhinitis with Ozena. Its etiology and surgical treatment, Francis P. Emerson, M.D., 451.
Auditory Canal, External, furunculosis of, the use of alcohol as a valuable aid in treatment, Oliver A. Lathrop, M.D., 645.

Bacillus Dysenteriae, third note on the persistence of agglutinins for, in the Danvers Hospital cases, M. M. Canavan, M.D., 643.
Balloons, our little. Some observations on gas and ptosis, E. A. Codman, M.D., 540.
Biliary Passages, surgery of the, during a period of ten years from January 1, 1901, to January 1, 1911, at the Massachusetts General Hospital. Wyman Whittemore, M.D., 571.
Biological Chemistry, review of, for 1912, A. Everett Austin, M.D., 125.
Bladder, tumors of, a case illustrating the efficiency of the high frequency current in the treatment of, J. Dellinger Barney, M.D., 19.
Blue Sclerotics and associated osteoporosis, five generations of, F. A. Conlon, M.D., 16.
Bone Plates, the end results of excision of the knee for tuberculosis with and without use of, Robert B. Osgood, M.D., 123.
Book Reviews. S. Jervois Aarons, aids to gynecology, 879; Carl Abraham, dreams and myths, 945; C. Adam, ophthalmological diagnosis, 580; Charlotte A. Aikens, primary studies for nurses, 25; Frederick M. Allen, studies concerning glycosuria and diabetes, 360; Sigmund Auerbach, headache, its varieties, their nature, recognition and treatment, 944; Gorham Bacon, a manual of otology, 945; James Moore Ball, 580; B. Bandelier and O. Roepke, a clinical system of tuberculosis describing all forms of the disease, 97; Anthony Bassler, diseases of the stomach and upper alimentary tract, 362; Walter A. Bastedo, materia medica; pharmacology; therapeutics; prescription writing, 728; Charles Begg, sprue: its diagnosis and treatment, 166; Ralph Bernstein, solidified carbon dioxide, 60; Leonard A. Bidwell, minor surgery, 24; Vilroy Papin Blair, surgery and disease of the mouth and jaws, 95; Sir John Bland-Sutton, fibroids of the uterus, 434; Germain Blechmann, pericardia effusion, 396; C. S. Bleumel, stammering and cognate defects of speech, 435; Major R. J. Blockham, aids to tropical hygiene, 133; Karl Bleumel, die ambulante therapie der lungentuberkulos und ihre haeufigsten komplikationen, 398; Max Boehm, massage, its principles and technic 246; Charles F. Boldvan and Mary Grund, applied bacteriology for nurses, 246; L. A. Borradaile, a manual of elementary zoology, 167; Alfred Braun and Isidore Friesner, the labyrinth, 249; Johannes Bresler, treatment of syphilis by the Ehrlich-Hata remedy, 93; George Emerson Brewer, a student's manual of surgical diagnosis, 23; A. A. Brill, psychanalysis: Its theories and practical application, 806; Estelle D. Buchanan and Robert Earle Buchanan, household bacteriology, 324; L. Duncan Bulkley, diet and hygiene in diseases of the skin, 60; Anton Bum, technic of medical massage, 943; Richard C. Cabot, physical diagnosis, 933; differential diagnosis, 93; Herbert S. Carter, diet lists of the Presbyterian Hospital, New York City, 286; Ronald Campbell, heredity, evolution and vitalism, 435; Aldo Castellani, manual of tropical diseases, 436; C. C. Chayce, a system of surgery, 436; Charles H. Chetwood, the practice of urology, 396; Sir. W. Watson Cheyne and F. F. Burghard, a manual of surgical treatment, 286, 913; J. McKeen Cottell, science and education, 911; L. R. G. Crandon and Albert Ehrenfried, surgical after-treatment, 95; Gerald Dalton, a practical manual of venereal and generative diseases, 805; B. L. S. Daugherty and M. C. Daugherty, principles of economic zoology, 25; Haldin Davis, skin diseases 'n general practice, 943; George E. de Schweinitz, diseases of the eye, 508; George Dock, outlines for care-taking and routine ward and laboratory work, 651; Gilman A. Drew, a laboratory manual of invertebrate zoology, 248, 766; E. C. Dudley, the principles and practice of gynecology, 840; Cary Eggleston, essentials of prescription writing, 806; Wilmott Evans, diseases of the skin, 25; Francis Ashley Faught, blood-pressure, 209; Richard E. Faulkner, the tonsils and the voice in science, surgery, speech and song, 806; Palmer Findley, a treatise on the diseases of women, 839; Elizabeth T. Fraser, a manual of immunity, 166; Leonard Freeman, skin grafting, 94; Julius Friedenwald and John Rurah, diet in health and disease, 434; C. Garre, surgery of the lung, 435; C. J. Gauss and H. Lembcke, deep Roentgen therapy, 879; Douglas Graham, massage, manual treatment, remedial movements, 838; Henry Gray, anatomy, descriptive and applied, new (English) edition by Robert Howden, new (American) edition by Edward Anthony Spitzka, 728; F. W. Eldridge Green, Hunterian lectures on color vision and color blindness, 133; Clifford G. Grulee, infant feeding, 132; G. Lovell Gulland and Alexander Goodall, the blood, 96; William Hanna, studies in smallpox and vaccination, 395; David Berry Hart, guide to midwifery, 94; Bernard Hart, the psychology of insanity, 209; C. D. Hawthorne, studies in clinical medicine, 167; Carl Hartman and Lewis B. Bibb, the human body and its enemies, 911; John B. Hawes, 2d, early pulmonary tuberculosis, diagnosis prognosis, and treatment, 912; Henry Phipps Institute, seventh report of, 286; Arthur Douglas Hirschfelder, diseases of the heart and aorta, 94; Edward Hirschman, Freud's theories of the neuroses, 806; Barton Cooke Hirst, a text-book of obstetrics 133; James Henry Honan, what heart patients should know and do, 247; George Howard Hoxie and Pearl L. Laptod, manual of medicine for nurses and housemothers, 286; Max Huchner, sterility in the male and female and its treatment, 433; Henry Hun, an atlas of the differential diagnosis of the diseases of the nervous system, 361; Robert Hutchinson, lectures on diseases of children, 248; William R. Jack, Wheeler's handbook of medicine, 95; Ernest Jones, papers on psycho-analysis, 912; Edwin O. Jordan, a text-book of general bacteriology, 133; Anna Colby Knowlton, diabetic cook book, 133; Emil Kraepelin, lectures of clinical psychiatry, 805; Rudolf Krause, a course in normal histology, 840; William Lamb, practical guide to diseases of the throat, nose and ear, 805; J. Lamberg, guides to first aid, 943; James Lindsay, gout, its etiology, pathology and treatment, 435; George Roe Lockwood, diseases of the stomach, including dietetic and medical treatment, 436; Arnold Lorand, health and longevity through rational diet, 94; G. Frank Lydston, the blood of the fathers, 209; Catharine Macfarlane, a reference hand-book of gynecology for nurses, 247; Geo. W. MacKenzie, labyrinth papers, 913; John J. R. MacLeod, diabetes, its pathological physiology, 879; C. Devereux Marshall, diseases of the eyes, 167; Stewart L. McCurdy, anatomy and dissector in abstract, 943; medical and surgical reports of the Episcopal Hospital, 766; medical record visiting list or physician's diary for 1914, 945; Edwin Valentine Mitchell, the doctor in court, 728; modern treatment of nervous and mental diseases, 324; John Lovett Morse, case histories in pediatrics, 879; Verenus Alva Moore, bovine tuberculosis and its control, 95; Roger Sylvester Morris, clinical laboratory methods, 60; J. Keogh Murphy, the practitioner's encyclopedia, 168; John B. Murphy, the surgical clinics of, 24, 436, 687; Victor C. Myers and Morris S. Fine, essentials of pathological chemistry, 651; Percival Nicholson, blood pressure, 435; Carl von Noorden, new aspects of diabetes, pathology and treatment, 248; Charles C. Norris, gonorrhea in women, 395; A. Onodi, the relations of the lachrymal organs to the nose and nasal accessory sinuses, 838; William Osler, man's redemption of man, 168; Sir William Osler, the principles and practice of medicine, 167; Sir William Osler and Thomas McCrae, modern medicine. Its theory and practice, 912; Isaac Ott, a text-book of physiology, 211; Herbert J. Paterson, the surgery of the stomach, 839; George E. Pettey, the narcotic drug diseases and allied ailments, 434; Edward Bunnell Phelps, the supposed death-rates of abstainers and non-abstainers and their lack of scientific value, 945; W. G. Porter, diseases of the throat, nose and ear, 132; Ernst Portner, genito-urinary diagnosis and therapy, 838; Charles S. Potts, nervous and mental diseases, 211; Francis Marion Pottenger, muscle spasm and degeneration in intrathoracic inflammations, 168; tuberculin in diagnosis and treatment, 96; practitioner's visiting list, 942; George M. Price hygiene and sanitation, 614; Public Health Service, annual report of the United States, 69; Francis Ramaley and Clay E. Griffin, prevention and control of disease, 362; J. Rambouske, industrial poisoning, 766; L. Bathe Rawling, the surgery of the skull and brain, 546; Thomas E. Reed, sex, its origin and determination, 396; Charles A. L. Reed, diseases of women. Medical and surgical gynecology, 911; marriage and genetics: laws of human breeding and applied eugenics, 508; reference handbook of the medical sciences, 248, 435; Henry O. Reik, safeguarding the special senses, 94; report on certain outbreaks of yellow fever in 1910 and 1911 in West Africa, 362; report of the commission of education, 687; report of the state board of health of the State of Connecticut, 324; W. G. Rivers, Walt Whitman's anomaly, 246; Paul M. Roemer, epidemic infantile paralysis, 943; Leonard Rogers, dysenteries, 944; Milton J. Rosenau, preventive medicine and hygiene, 397; Thomas Dixon Savill, a system of clinical medicine, 93; Sir James Sawyer, coprostasis: its causes, prevention and treatment, 614; Rudolph Schmidt, diagnosis of the malignant tumors of the abdominal viscera, 651; Henry H. Schroeder, insurance medicine, 247; Victor Schwieden, a course of operative surgery, 25; school dentists' society, 324; Edwin Henry Schorer, vaccine and serum therapy, 247; Walter N. Sharp, ophthalmology for veterinarians, 362; William Martin Smallwood, a text-book of biology for students in medical, technical and general courses, 508; Abraham Sophian, epidemic cerebrospinal meningitis, 944; M. Allen Starr, organic and functional nervous diseases, 249; Thomas George Stevens, diseases of women, 210; studies from the Rockefeller Institute of Medical Research, 24, 246; G. A. Sutherland, the treatment of diseases of children, 211; Roger Sylvester, clinical laboratory methods, 913; Lewis M. Terman, the teacher's health, 246; John S. Thacher and George Woolsey, editors of medical and surgical report of the Presbyterian Hospital in the city of New York, 286; H. Hyslop Thomson, Consumption in General practice, 298; Erwin Toeroek, surgery of the eye, 580; transactions of the American Pediatric Society, 651; transactions of the fifth international sanitary conference of the American republics, 246; William Turner, treatment after operation, 24; Arthur S. Underwood and Bayford Underwood, a handbook on surgery, 95; Victor C. Vaughn, Victor C. Vaughn, Jr., and J. Walter Vaughn, the protein split products in relation to immunity and disease, 944; Oscar Vulpius, the treatment of infantile paralysis, 687; Sir Frederick Wallis, surgery of the rectum for practitioners, 167; David Walsh, diseases of the skin, 943; W. McWanklyn, London public health administration, 686; Chalmers Watson, food and feeding in health and disease, 247; Carl Wegele, therapeutics of the gastro- intestinal tract, 434; Henry Wharton, minor and operative surgery, 686; T. R. C. Whipham, London medical publications, 211; William A. White, outline of psychiatry, 248; B. G. R. Williams, laboratory methods, 580; J. Whitridge Williams, obstetrics, 167; Leonard Williams, minor maladies and their treatment, 60; Frederick Adams Woods, the influence of monarchs. Steps in a new science of history, 546; year book of the Pilcher Hospital, 60, 942.

Cancer control, Joseph C. Bloodgood, M.D., 792; of the stomach, Philemon E, Truesdale, M.D., 44.
Carpal Scaphoid, fracture of the, in childhood and adolescence, William Pearce Coues, M.D., 88.
Carcinoma of the rectum, Daniel Fiske Jones, M.D., 707.
Cardiac Edema, the treatment of, with alkali and salt, L. H. Newburgh, M.D., 40.
Cesarean Section: Its indication. With report of 20 cases, Frederick L. Good, M.D., 345.
Chorea, Hereditary, with report of a case, William A. Boyd, B.Sc., M.D., 680.
Complement Fixation Test in diagnosis, James Homer Wright, M.D., 353.
Congenital Hypertrophic Stenosis of the pylorus. With x-ray plates, Charles G. Mixter, M.D., 309.
Chronic Interstitial Nephritis, the effect of nitrogenous waste products in the blood in, Malcolm Seymour, M.D., 795.
Chronic Renal Disease, the nervous irritability of, William H. Robey, Jr., M.D., 817.
Colon Bacilli, a preliminary note on the experimental production of gastric ulcers by the intravenous injections of, Edgar C. Steinharter, M.D., 81.
Compulsory Dentistry, Frederick A. Keyes, D.M.D., 20.
Conference, First Annual, on the medical and social work of the Psychopathic Hospital, Boston, Mass., E. E. Southard, M.D., et al., 418.
Correspondence. Hydrophobia as an occupational disease, Paul Bartholow, A.B., M.D., 851; the neglect of hydrotherapy, Simon Baruch, M.D., 35; an early case of transfusion, Adler Blumer, M.D., 955; recurrent variola, E. D. Carder, M.D., 35; more likely to cause than cure fits, John W. Farlow, M.D., 35; antiquated surgical instruments, Ralph W. Jackson, M.D., 556; note on the use of Kimpton and Brown's tubes for transfusion, Frank H. Lahey, M.D., 408; Lieut.-Col. Elliot's visit to Boston, Walter B. Lancaster, M.D., 890; Membership in the college of surgeons of America, Franklin H. Martin, M.D., 34; polished rice, a rejoinder, Horace Packard, M.D., 219; fasting after feasting, Charles E. Page, M.D., 739; history and romance in Ireland, 142; Edinburgh and the Borderland, 295; Brighton and the British Medical Association, 334; the medical congress in London, 371; Winchester, Southampton and the pilgrims, 446; Bristol and the castles of Wales, 590; Chester and its medical history, Peregrinus Novus, 662; the word "insanity," 219; hydrophobia as an occupation disease, Gaetano Praino, M.D., 776; the teaching of therapeutics, Beverley Robinson, M.D., 592; letter from France, on the "maladie du bouquin," "S," 177; living centenarians, James A. Spaulding, M.D., 260.

Danvers State Hospital. Notes on pellagra in Massachusetts. Report of two cases in, J. B. MacDonald, M.D., 567.
Delinquency, study of the causes of juvenile, Edith R. Spaulding, M.D., 7.
Delirium Tremens, on the treatment of, by the subdural injection of sodium bromide, S. P. Kramer, M.D., 646.
Dentistry, compulsory, Frederick A. Keyes, D.M.D., 20.
Dermatology, report of progress in, John T. Bowen, M.D., 239.
Diabetes Mellitus, the treatment of, Elliott P. Joslin, M.D., 348.
Diarrheas, two types of infectious, in infants, Richard M. Smith, M.D., 756; observations on the etiology of severe summer diarrheas of bacterial causation, Arthur I. Kendall, 754; observations on summer diarrheas in children, 1911, Arthur I. Kendall, Alexander A. Day, and Edward P. Bagg, 741; observations on summer diarrheas in children, 1912, Arthur I. Kendall and Alexander A. Day, 753; cooked green vegetables in the treatment of acute and chronic diarrheas, Cunningham Wilson, M.D., 301.
Digitalis: Its action and its uses, Walter R. Steiner, M.D., 828.
Duodenal and Gastric Ulcer, the x-ray method in diagnosis of, F. W. White, M.D., and A. W. George, M.D., 157.
Dysenteriae, Bacillus, third note on the persistence of agglutinins for, in the Danvers Hospital cases, M. M. Canavan, M.D., 643.

Ear, acute and chronic suppuration of the middle, G. L. Toby, Jr., M.D., 871.
Earache and induction of operative anesthesia, on the relief of, by infiltration of the auriculotemporal and tympanic (Jacobson's) nerves, P. C. Skillern, Jr., M.D., 503.
Editorial. Typhoid fever at Albany, 26; the death of Edward the Sixth, 27; A co-operative course on public health, 28; health rules, 29; sanatoria on warships, 61; commitment and care of the insane, 62; appointment of Dr. Hunt, and the development of pharmacology, 63; the Boston floating hospital, 63; the cocaine evil, 64; casualties of July fourth, 98;

the Gettysburg celebration, 98; three English medical meetings, 99; school hygiene, 134; Harvard medical expedition to South America, 134; abuse of the word "insanity," 135; anti-vaccination in the Isle of Man, 136; refrigeration without power for home use, 169; physicians and population, 169; anniversary of Bender laboratory, 170; medical reforms, 170; the question of the feeble-minded, 212; report of the Boston City Hospital, 213; alcohol as a stimulant, 213; infant welfare in the State of New York, 250; athletic methods, 252; a physician as poet laureate, 252; the sex problem, 287; public health, 287; a new chair of bacteriology at Edinburgh, 288; the control of venereal disease, 326; the water supply of West Point, 327; two important American medical congresses, 328; the American Hospital Association, 363; present-day dangers, 364; deaths of aviators, 365; heredity in the Hall of Fame, 399; battleships as tuberculosis sanatoria, 400; two new journals, 401; a report of the State Board of Insanity, 437; public laundries, 438; complement fixation test in gonorrhea, 438; Workmen's Compensation Act, 439; the teaching of therapeutics, 477; tuberculosis among cotton mill workers, 478; geographical pathology, 479; acute appendicitis and the summer digestive upset, 480; the automobile as an emergency ambulance, 480; the perils of statistics, 509; German National Health Insurance, 510; the milk supply of Boston and Paris, 510; disinfection of letters a century ago, 510; Dr. Reginald Heber Fitz, 547; prevention of industrial diseases, 548; doctors and transportation trauma, 548; Imperial cancer research fund, 549; ether day, 581; the etiologic organism of poliomyelitis, 581; German vital statistics, 582; a new emeritus, 582; typhoid death-rates in Massachusetts, 583; neurotic school children, 615; present methods of disinfection, 616; medical education in the United States, 617; the cost and supply of radium, 618; the public health officer, 652; a lesson from the army, 653; anthropological laboratories, 653; uniform hospital morbidity statistics, 688; Dr. Mark Akenside, 688; two munificent gifts to medical education, 689; the International Congress on tuberculosis, 690; Massachusetts Medical Benevolent Society, 690; paralysis during antirabic treatment, 691; does sanitation pay? 729; the death of Mary the First of England, 730; phenomena of the French birth-rate, 730; the prevention of infant mortality, 767; the control of venereal diseases, 768; alcohol education through posters, 768; the British birth-rate commission, 807; errors in the diagnosis of rabies, 808; two important meetings in Chicago, 808; constitut'onality of sterilization laws, 809; the systematic study of the conditions under which tuberculosis is found in Massachusetts, 841; Massachusetts State Tuberculosis Sanatoria, 841; "Damaged Goods," 842; the name "epilepsy," 880; the single dose of antitoxin in diphtheria, 881; the latest step in anesthesia, 882; the work of the New York health department, 914; school hygiene and the communal health, 915; the margin of error in medicine, 916; comparative vital statistics in Glasgow, 917; Dr. Mitchell's tribute to Dr. Billings, 946; a new venture in journalism, 947; racial aspects of tuberculosis, 947..

Endocarditis in children, a study of 179 cases of, at the Massachusetts General Hospital; with special reference to the treatment of acute endocarditis, Louis W. Gilbert, M.D., 85.

Epilepsy, the role of gastric and intestinal stasis in some cases of, Hale Powers, M.D., 189.

Epiphysis of the first metacarpal bone, separation of the. Report of two additional cases, William Pearce Coues, M.D., 21.

Exercise, a case of orthostatic albuminuria treated by, Henry J. FitzSimmons, M.D., 722.

Excessive Polyuria of arterio-sclerosis, W. E. Paul, M.D., 57.

"Family Clusters," the role of, in the prevalence of pulmonary tuberculosis, Carl C. MacCorison, M.D., and Newell B. Burns, M.D., 224.

Farmer, the, and the hygienist, Paul W. Goldsbury, M.D., 640.

Feeble-minded and Insane, size of hospitals for, W. Maule Smith, M.D., 459.

Femoral Epiphysis, separation of the lower, report of eighteen cases, at the Boston City Hospital, Horace Binney, M.D., and Fred B. Lund, M.D., 49.

Fibroma of the ovary weighing thirty-five pounds. Operation. Recovery, R. S. Titus, M.D., 381.

Fitz, Reginald Heber, memorial meeting. Dr. Fitz's services to surgery, 893; Dr. Fitz's contribution to pathology, W. T. Councilman, M.D., 895; Dr. Fitz as a teacher, W. S. Thayer, M.D., 897; Dr. Fitz's association with the Massachusetts General Hospital, Henry P. Walcott, M.D., 899; Dr. Fitz's service to medical education, Charles W. Eliot, LL.D., 901.

Fracture, Compound, of the base of the skull, prognosis and treatment of, A. C. Burnham, 270; an unusual case of fracture of the patella, D. Pearce Penhallow, M.D., 90.

Functional Tests, clinical. Methods, Edward L. Young, Jr., M.D., 466.

Furunculosis of the external auditory canal. The use of alcohol as a valuable aid in treatment, Oliver A. Lothrop, M.D., 645.

Gall-bladder, errors in diagnosis from a surgical point of view, John H. Gibbon, M.D., 853; condition of the upper region of the abdomen in relation to disease of, Charles G. Stockton, M.D., 862.

Gas and Ptosis, some observations on, E. A. Codman, M.D., 540.

Gastric Disease, certain observations upon two hundred cases of, Charles L. Scudder, M.D., 635.

Gastric and Duodenal Ulcer, the x-ray method in diagnosis of, Franklin W. White, M.D., and Arial W. George, M.D., 157.

Gastric Ulcer, a preliminary note on the experimental production of, by the intravenous injection of clumped colon bacilli, Edgar S. Steinharter, B.S., M.D., 81.

Genito-Urinary Tuberculosis, remarks on the rational treatment of, Richard F. O'Neil, M.D., and John B. Hawes, M.D., 492.

Geographical Distribution, second note on, of mental disease in Massachusetts, 1901-1910. The insanity rates of the smaller cities, E. E. Southard, M.D., 302.

Gynecological and neurological disease, relationship between, W. P. Graves, M.D., 557.

Gonorrheal Infections, gonococcus vaccines and glycerine extracts of the gonococcus in the diagnosis of, George Cheever Shattuck, M.D., and W. Stewart Whittemore, M.D., 373.

Hospitals, relation of, to the hygiene of pregnancy, James Lincoln Huntington, M.D., 763; size of, for the insane and feeble-minded, W. Maule Smith, M.D., 459.

Hospital Administration, needs of the future in, Frederic A. Washburn, M.D., 449.

Hygiene of Pregnancy, relation of the hospital to, J. L. Huntington, M.D., 763.

Hygienist and the farmer, Paul W. Goldsbury, M.D., 640.

Hysteria with fever and ankle clonus. A case report, A. Myerson, M.D., 194.

Immigration and the prevention of insanity, Thomas W. Salmon, 297.

Infant Foods, common, preparation of, Robert B. Hunt, 758.

Infection with Nocardia, a case of, Albert E. Steele, M.D., and Roger I. Lee, M.D., 502.

Insane Hospitals, the better training of nurses in, Walter Channing, M.D., 719; size of hospitals for the insane and feeble-minded, W. Maule Smith, M.D., 459.

Insanity Rates of the smaller cities. Second note on the geographical distribution of mental disease in Massachusetts, 1901-1910, E. E. Southard, M.D., 302.

Insanity, immigration and the prevention of, Thomas W. Salmon, M.D., 297.

Insanity, Massachusetts State Board of, medical contribution of the, introductory note, E. E. Southard, M.D., 537.

Intestinal Obstruction caused by acute angulation of the terminal ileum, following operation for acute suppurative appendicitis, C. A. Roeder, M.D., 313.

Intestinal Stasis, E. G. Schlesinger, M.B., B.S., B.S.C., 14.

Internal Medicine, some relationships between orthopedic surgery and, H. W. Marshall, M.D., 46.

Jackson, J. Hughlings, certain features of his work, James J. Putnam, M.D., 73.

Juvenile Delinquency, the study of the causes of, Edith R. Spauding, M.D., 7.

Labor Mechanism, some aspects of, at the pelvic brim, A. K. Paine, M.D., 154.

Medical Progress, some peculiarities of, with illustrations from studies of articular conditions, H. W. Marshall, M.D., 593.

Mental Disease, second note on the geographical distribution of, in Massachusetts, 1901-1910. The insanity rates of the smaller cities, E. E. Southard, M.D., 302; some medical and social aspects of mental disease due to alcohol, Walter Channing, M.D., 929; Michael J. Murray, 930; H. M. Adler, M.D., 932; G. E. Eversole, M.D., 933; A. Warren Stearns, M.D., 934; Mary C. Jarrett, 936; E. E. Southard, M.D., 937.

Mental Healing, the evolution of, Charles F. Painter, M.D., 605.

Method of promoting the efficiency of an out-patient clinic, Michael M. Davis, Jr., Ph.D., and Elmer W. Barron, M.D., 820.

Miscellany. Infant mortality in American cities, 105; the museum at the Seventeenth International Medical Congress, 1913, 107; Irish doctors and national insurance, 107; school dental clinics in Ireland, 176; national health insurance in England, 176; practical problems of national insurance, 177; tuberculosis and public expectoration, 218; pasteurization of milk, 260; state appropriation for tuberculosis, 294; a medieval Scottish Leech and his lands, 294; the stable fly and poliomyelitis, 334; school for health officers conducted by Harvard University and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, 370; resolutions regarding tuberculosis, 406; the Bruce commission in South Africa, 406; United States Civil Service examination. Chief bacteriologist, 444; report of medical advisory committee, Workmen's Compensation act, 444; eradication of trypanosomiasis, 519; state care of cripples in Germany, 520; Massachusetts Medical Society: Meeting of the council, 552; resolutions on the death of Dr. Julian A. Mead, 589; perforating inflammation of the vermiform appendix with special reference to its early diagnosis and treatment 626; early medical history of hydated moles, 661; poliomyelitis in Vermont, 661; district nursing in Wales, 662; the American College of Surgeons, 698; meeting of the American College of Surgeons, 699; bacterial count of milk, 700; Harvard Medical Alumni Association, 739; changes in the Medical Corps, U. S. Navy, 740; Presbyterian Hospital in China, 740; alcoholic mental disease, 775; an expert criticism of Massachusetts methods, 815; in memory of Reginald Heber Fitz, A.M., M.D., LL.D., 815; memorial to Dr. Fitz, 816; antimeningitis serum, 851; Army medical corps examinations, 852; examination of candidates for assistant surgeon, 852; the popular attitude towards eugenics, 925; some results of the Friedmann treatment of tuberculosis, 926; bouillon cubes not concentrated meat essence, 927; travel study club of American physicians, 928; organization of public health work, 953; the last days of Cardinal Richelieu, 954; water sterilization by electricity, 955.

Nasal Septum, report of a few cases where sutures instead of packing have been used after submucous resection of the, Margaret L. Noyes, M.D., 542.

Nephritis, nitrogenous waste products in the blood in, Otto Folin, M.D., and W. Denis, M.D., 467; the effect of nitrogenous waste products in the blood in chronic interstitial nephritis, Malcolm Seymour, M.D., 795; the significance of urinary acidity in nephritis, Walter W. Palmer, M.D., 464; the classification of nephritis from the pathological point of view, F. B. Mallory, M.D., 460.

Nervous Irritability of chronic renal disease, William H. Robey, Jr., M.D., 817.

Neurological and Gynecological Diseases, relationship between, W. P. Graves, M.D., 557.

Neurology of the Child, contributions of the. III. Further observations upon nervous and mental sequelae of encephalitis in children, William Palmer Lucas, M.D., and E. E. Southard, M.D., 341.

Neuropathology and psychopathology. The psychopathic hospital as research and teaching center, E. E. Southard, M.D., 151.

New Instruments. Modified adenoid forceps, Joseph Prenn, M.D., 160; a new antrum knife, Oliver A. Lothrop, M.D., 471.

Nitrogenous Waste Products in the blood in nephritis, Otto Folin, M.D., and W. Denis, M.D., 467; the effect of, in the blood in chronic interstitial nephritis, Malcolm Seymour, M.D., 795.

Nocardia, a case of infection with, Albert E. Steele, M.D., and Roger I. Lee, M.D., 502.

Nutrition of anemic and tuberculous children, Edwin A. Locke, A.M., M.D., 701.

Obituaries, John Howe Clark, M.D., 889; Jerome E. Dwelly, M.D., 889; Reginald Heber Fitz, M.D., 625; Richard Cranch Greenleaf, M.D., 925; Frederick Forchheimer, 71; Frank Hartley, M.D., LL.D. 34; Edwin Bayard Harvey, M.D., 518; Edwin Klebs, M.D., 814; Charles McBurney, M.D., 775; John B. Swift, M.D., 333; Sir John Batty Tuke, M.D., F.R.C.P.E., LL.D., D.Sc., F.R.S.E., 698; Theodore Schaepkens van Riempst, 444.

Obstetrics, report of progress in, Robert L. De Normandie, M.D., and John B. Swift, Jr., M.D., 428; Cesarean section: Its indication, with report of twenty cases, Frederick L. Good, M.D., 345; some aspects of labor mechanism at the pelvic brim, A. K. Paine, M.D., 154.

Obstetrical Problem of the poor, A. K. Paine, M.D., 121.

Orthopedics and the sanatorium, Herbert J. Hall, M.D., 678.

Orthopedic Surgery and internal medicine, some relationships between, H. W. Marshall M.D., 46; third report of progress in, Robert B. Osgood, M.D., et al., 279.

Orthostatic Albuminuria, a case of, treated by exercise, Henry J. FitzSimmons, M.D., 722.

Osteoporosis, five generations of blue sclerotics associated with, F. A. Conlon, M.D., 16.

Out-Patient Clinic, a method of promoting the efficiency of an, Michael M. Davis, Jr., Ph.D., and Elmer W. Baron, M.D., 820.

Ovary, Fibroma, weighing thirty-five pounds, R. S. Titus, M.D., 381.

Paralysis Spastic, the end results of operative treatment in 33 cases of, Herbert E. Harris, M.D., 82.

Parasitism, pathogenism and saprophytism, Arthur I. Kendall, 749.

Patella, an unusual case of fracture of the, (treated by immobilization). D. Pearce Penhallow, M.D., 90.

Peculiarities of medical progress with illustrations from studies of articular conditions, H. W. Marshall, M.D., 593.

Pediatrics. Two types of infectious diarrheas in infants, Richard M. Smith, M.D., 756; observations on the etiology of severe summer diarrheas of bacterial causation, Arthur I. Kendall, 754; observations on summer diarrheas in children, 1911, Arthur I. Kendall, Alexander A. Day, and Edward P. Bagg, 741; observations on summer diarrheas in children, 1912, Arthur I. Kendall and Alexander A. Day, 753.

Pellagra in Massachusetts, notes on, with report of two cases in Danvers State Hospital, J. M. MacDonald, M.D., 567.

Pelvic Brim, some aspects of labor mechanism at the, A. K. Paine, M.D., 154.

Pericecal Membranes, an anatomical and surgical study of, Michael F. Fallon, M.D., 600.

Peritonsillar Abscess, report of a case of phlegmon starting as, and extending downward as far as the second ring of the trachea, George L. Richards, M.D., 278.

Pharmacology, conclusions from an experiment in teaching, Albert C. Crawford, M.D., 274.

Phlegmon, report of a case of, starting as a peritonsillar abscess and extending downward, as far as the second ring of the trachea, George L. Richards, M.D., 278.

Pneumothorax, Artificial, in the treatment of chronic infection of the pleura and the lungs, Cleaveland Floyd, M.D., 713.

Poliomyelitis, the mode of transmission of, M. J. Rosenau, M.D., 337.

Polyuria, excessive, of arterio-sclerosis, W. E. Paul, M.D., 57.

Pregnancy, relation of the hospital to the hygiene of, James Lincoln Huntington, M.D., 763.

Preventive Medicine, progress and problems in, M. J. Rosenau, M.D., 665.

Progress. Review of biological chemistry for 1912, A. Everett Austin, M.D., 125; report on dermatology, John T. Bowen, M.D., 239; report on obstetrics, Robert L. DeNormandie, M.D., and John B. Swift, Jr., M.D., 428, 471; third report in orthopedic surgery, Robert B. Osgood, M.D., Robert Soutter, M.D., Hermann Bucholz, M.D., and Murray S. Danforth, M.D., 279, 314, 354, 387; progress in surgery of the thorax, R. H. Miller, M.D., 197.

Progress and Problems in preventive medicine, M. J. Rosenau, M.D., 665.

Psychology, comparative, in relation to medicine, Robert M. Yerkes, Ph.D., 779.

Psychopathic Hospital, Boston, Massachusetts, contribution from the. Introductory note, E. E. Southard, M.D., 109; notes on the first annual conference on the medical and social work of the Psychopathic Hospital, Boston, Mass., Walter Channing, M.D., Harvey H. Baker, Esq.; G. E. Eversole, M.D.; V. V. Anderson, M.D.; Mary C. Jarrett; W. P. Lucas, M.D.; A. W. Stearns, M.D.; Donald Gregg, M.D.; H. M. Adler, M.D.; B. H. Ragle; John G. Blake, M.D.; A. Myerson, M.D.; E. E. Southard, M.D., 418; psychopathology and neuropathology: The psychopathic hospital as research and teaching center, E. E. Southard, M.D., 151; some problems of the adolescent as seen in, W. P. Lucas, M.D., 782; report of voice clinic, September, 1912, to June, 1913. Out-patient department, W. P. Lucas, M.D., 822.

Psychopathology and neuropathology: The Psychopathic hospital as research and teaching center, E. E. Southard, M.D., 151.

Ptosis, some observations on gas and, our little balloons, E. A. Codman, M.D., 540; the surgeon and the ptosis problem, F. B. Lund, M.D., 181.

Pulmonary Tuberculosis, see tuberculosis.

Pylorus, congenital hypertrophic stenosis of, Charles G. Mixter M.D., 309.

Removal of Adenoids and tonsils in children, A. Coolidge, M.D., and F. E. Garland, M.D., 306.

Renal Function, general summary of the significance of methods of testing, Henry A. Christian, M.D., 468; tests for, based upon the selective excretory activities of the kidney, R. Fitz, M.D., 384.

Reorganization, the need of, in methods and teaching of therapeutics, George Blumer, M.D., 261.

Rhinitis, Atrophic, with ozena. Its etiology and surgical treatment, Francis P. Emerson, M.D., 451.

Roentgen Method, the value of, in the study of chronic appendicitis and inflammatory conditions, both congenital and acquired, about the cecum and terminal ileum, Arial W. George, M.D., and Isaac Gerber, M.D., 534.

Roentgen-Ray Diagnosis of scorbutus, Fritz B. Talbot, M.D., Walter J. Dodd, M.D., and Hugo O. Peterson, M.D., 232.

Sanatorium, orthopedics and the, Herbert J. Hall, M.D., 678.

Saprophytism. Parasitism and pathogenism, Arthur I. Kendall, 749.

Scoliosis, the treatment of, Robert W. Lovett, M.D., 629.

Scorbutus, experimental, and the Roentgen-ray diagnosis of, Fritz B. Talbot, M.D.; Walter J. Dodd, M.D.; and Hugo O. Peterson, M.D., 232.

Separation of the Epiphysis of the first metacarpal bones. Report of two additional cases, William Pearce Coues, M.D., 21; report of eighteen cases of the lower femoral, at the Boston City Hospital, Horace Binney, M.D., and Fred B. Lund, M.D., 49.

Skull, prognosis and treatment of compound fracture of, of the base, A. C. Burnham, 270.
Society Reports. Association of American Physicians, 504, 542, 577, 611, 647, 685; American Electro-Therapeutic Association, 725; American Association of Genito-Urinary Surgeons, 129, 161; The American Gynecological Society, 243, 283, 320; American Orthopedic Association, 351, 391; American Surgical Association, 802, 824, 877, 907; Barnstable District Medical Society, 805; Berkshire District Medical Society, 765; Bristol South District Medical Society, 58; Congress of American Physicians and Surgeons, 431, 474; Medical Society of the State of New York, 202; New England Pediatric Society, 316; Philadelphia County Medical Society, 91; Worcester District Medical Society, 59.
Some Problems of the adolescent, as seen in the Psychopathic Hospital, William Palmer Lucas, M.D., 782.
State Board of Insanity of Massachusetts, medical contributions of. Introductory note, E. E. Southard, M.D., 537.
State Medicine, need of co-operation between local and state forces in tuberculosis work, John B. Hawes, 2d, M.D., 527.
Spastic Paralysis, the end results of operative treatment in 33 cases of, Herbert E. Harris, M.D., 82.
Sphincteric Atrophy: Causes, consequences and treatment, Ralph W. Jackson, M.D., 221.
Spinal abscesses, James K. Young, M.D., 457.
Support, Abdominal, description of an abdominal lumbo-ilio-sacral support and its uses, advantages and limitations, H. W. Marshall, M.D., 275.
Suppuration of the middle ear, acute and chronic, G. L. Toby, Jr., M.D., 871.
Stuttering, some observations on the conditions and treatment of, Constance Charnley, 824.

Teaching Pharmacology. conclusions from an experiment in, Albert C. Crawford, M.D., 274.
Terminology of medicine in relation to its original sources, Samuel Delano, M.D., 800.
Therapeutics, the need of reorganization in the methods and teaching of, George Blumer, M.D., 261.
Thorax, Surgery of, progress in, R. H. Miller, M.D., 197.
Tonsillectomy, indications for the relative values of tonsillotomy and, J. L. Goodale, M.D., 485.
Transfusion by means of glass cylinders A. R. Kimpton, 783.
Tuberculosis. Address of the chairman of the section of tuberculosis, F. A. Adams, M.D., 521; the tuberculosis problem from the point of view of local boards of health, Bradford H. Pierce, M.D., 524; need of co-operation between local and state forces in tuberculosis work, John B. Hawes, 2d, M.D., 527; the surgical treatment of pulmonary tuberculosis, Mary E. Lapham, M.D., 676; the nutrition of anemic and tuberculous children, Edwin A. Locke, A.M., M.D., 701; the end results of excision of the knee for tuberculosis, with and without the use of bone plates, Robert B. Osgood, M.D., 123; the out-door treatment of surgical tuberculosis, Robert W. Lovett, M.D., and John E. Fish, M.D., 145; the role of "family clusters" in the prevalence of pulmonary tuberculosis, Carl C. MacCorison, M.D., and Newell B. Burns, M.D., 224; remarks on the rational treatment of genito-urinary tuberculosis, Richard F. O'Neil, M.D., and John B. Hawes, 2d, M.D., 492; the importance of education in the tuberculosis campaign, Lyman Asa Jones, M.D., 521.
Tumors of the Bladder, a case illustrating the efficiency of the high frequency current in the treatment of, J. Dellinger Barney, M.D., 19.
Typhoid carrier problem, the, C. L. Overlander, M.D., 37; diagnosis of typhoid fever on admission to a hospital, George Cheever Shattuck, M.D., and Charles Henry Lawrence, M.D., 228.

Urinary Acidity, the significance of, in nephritis, Walter W. Palmer, M.D. 464.

Vaccines, Gonococcus, and glycerine extracts of the gonococcus in the diagnosis of gonorrheal infections, George Cheever Shattuck, M.D., and W. Stewart Whittemore, M.D., 373; bacterial, the use of, in acute septic conditions of the oral cavity met with by the dentist, Leon S. Medalia, M.D., 786.
Venereal Diseases, a symposium on the reportability and control of, S. L. Strong, M.D., 901.
Vichy, Royat, Aix-les-Bains. Which? Kate C. Mead, M.D., 267.
Vocal Disorders, experiences in the treatment of, Constance Charnley, 833; stuttering, treatment of, Constance Charnley, 524; report of voice clinic, September, 1912, to June, 1913, out-patient department of the Psychopathic Hospital, William Palmer Lucas, M.D., 822.

Wassermann Reaction, clinical value of, Abner Post, M.D., 777; its application to medicine, W. P. Lucas, M.D., 116.
Wetnurse problem, Fritz B. Talbot, M.D., 760.
Whooping Cough, pathological lesion of, F. B. Mallory, M.D., 378.
Workmen's Compensation Act from the legal standpoint, J. C. Johnston, Esq., 409; as viewed by a member of the Industrial Accident Board, Dudley M. Holman, Esq., 413; as it affects the physician, Robert M. Merrick, M.D., 415.

X-Ray Method in diagnosis of gastric and duodenal ulcer, F. W. White, M.D., and A. W. George, M.D., 157.